REPORT CAPTURE OF BENGAZI, LAST OF ITALIAN POSITIONS

British and Australian Troops Follow Patch Smashed By RAF Bombers

IMPORTANT TRIUMPH

One of The Most Important Air and Naval Bases Held By the Italians

By Gordon Young

I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Feb. 7.—(INS)—Following a patch smashed for them by R. A. F. bombers, British and Australian troops have captured Bengazi, last Italian stronghold in Eastern Libya, the British High Command in Cairo announced today.

Military quarters in Cairo said the final attack on Bengazi was carried out by ground forces in co-operation with aerial and naval forces.

(British officials in London confirmed that Bengazi had been captured but said they had received no details regarding the final attack. They declared they understood a heavy sandstorm was raging in the Bengazi area.) Occupation of Bengazi by the British imperial forces marked the fourth major Libyan base to fall into British hands since the start of the westward British "blitz" advance. The others were Bardia, Tobruk and Derna.

The fall of Bengazi constitutes an important triumph for the British, since the Italians had been using the town and seaport as one of their most important air and naval bases.

Prior to the fall of Bengazi, there had been reports that many of the Italian defenders were fleeing from the town, taking much of their mechanized equipment with them.

Preparing the way for the final assault by ground forces, R. A. F. planes blasted Berka and Benina, the two airports outside Bengazi and also raided a railway station at Narby Barge.

Simultaneously, the British headquarters at Cairo revealed that the imperial troops in Eritrea are making rapid progress.

Rapidly consolidating their new positions, the British already have begun the siege of Keren, important Italian stronghold 50 miles from the Eritrean capital of Asmara, according to military advices.

These dispatches revealed that British artillery batteries are subjecting Italian positions defending Keren to a heavy shelling.

The new assault on Keren proper began after the British completed

TO HEAR WORLD-FAMOUS WAR CORRESPONDENT

Quentin Reynolds Will Be Guest Speaker At Burlington Trade Ass'n Banquet

TO RETURN TO ENGLAND

BURLINGTON, N. J., Feb. 7.—Quentin Reynolds, world-famous war correspondent of Collier's magazine, will be the guest speaker at the fourth annual dinner meeting of the Burlington Trade Association next Wednesday evening, at the Burlington Armory.

Reynolds, probably the most sought after speaker in America today, will give a "words-eye view" of the Battle of Britain for he will not only talk but also show motion pictures of the Nazi onslaught. The pictures, "London Can Take It" and "Christmas Under Fire," were made with Reynolds as commentator.

Back from London for a limited visit, the war ace is scheduled to start on a trans-continental speaking tour the day after his Burlington appearance. He has just concluded an engagement at the Strand Theatre, New York. He will return to England next month to cover the expected Hitler blitzkrieg in the spring.

Reynolds can make words talk—either written or spoken. His accounts of a tour through devastated Southampton in the company of King George, a trip on a Channel convoy under the fire of Nazi bombers, a night in a London subway shelter; all were hailed as masterpieces of news-writing. Reynolds is also the author of "The Wounded Don't Cry," an account of his experiences in France, England and Ireland during the past year.

Other speakers at the Trade Association dinner will be Theodore L. Shaffer, Kearny, N. J., and Irving Gumb, of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce. Efforts are also being made to obtain the services of a nationally-recognized authority on national defense through the offices of William Knudsen, national defense administrator.

Alexander Denbo, secretary of the Association, will serve as toastmaster for the event. Invitations to attend have been sent to Governor Charles A. Edison, Senator W. Warren Barbour, Congressman D. Lane Powers, State Senator Howard Eastwood, Major General Clifford R. Powell, and M. F. J. Russell, president of the United States Pipe and Foundry Company, Burlington.

The dinner will be served by a Philadelphia caterer. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner. They include Chairman Sidney W. Bookbinder, Elmer R. Anderson, Clyde E. Frechafer, Louis E. Fuller and Edward Cunningham.

Veterans Think Germany Cannot Invade U. S.

By William K. Hutchinson

Washington, Feb. 6.—A poll of the Senate's overseas veterans of the first World War disclosed they are two to one in the opinion that Germany cannot invade the United States, if Britain is defeated.

The majority described talk of such an invasion as "fantastic" and "preposterous," the minority, who regarded such an invasion as "possible," based their views upon the "if" of Germany seizing control of both the British and French war fleets.

Speaking from their own experiences in World War I, the Senate AEF Veterans, however, were unanimous in discounting the possibility of the U. S. invading Europe to help Britain defeat Germany. Development of military aviation as a defensive weapon, the vast spaces of the Atlantic, and Germany's hold on European ports were cited as the reason of why they believe such an invasion would be impossible.

One of the veterans—Senator Tydings, D. Md., who rose from the ranks to a lieutenant-colonelcy—held a German invasion of the U. S. might be possible with a big "if." This was his "if."

"If Britain were defeated and the British Navy fell into Axis hands then by using the combined German-British-Japanese-Italian and French navies, with the huge Axis armies being ready, an invasion might be possible now. One reason would be that the Axis powers would have a 2 or 3 to 1 naval superiority, about 6 to 1 air superiority and about 10 to 1 troop superiority.

"All these favorable factors would have to be combined. Without one of them, invasion of this continent would be problematical. As for us invading Europe, in our present state of preparedness, it would take us years to get ready for it."

Senator Wayland Brooks, R., Ill., a marine, called a German invasion impossible. He felt the same way about the U. S. invading Europe.

Continue Attack On U. S.

Rome, Feb. 7.—While Italian newspapers pressed forward with their campaign against the U. S., drastic military precautions were taken in Rome today to prevent serious anti-American incidents.

Troops were stationed behind the American embassy and consulate, ready to intervene in the event student demonstrators or others attempted to approach the buildings.

Squads of police also were stationed in the streets within a radius of several blocks of the embassy. Nevertheless, widespread demonstrations continued.

While the newspapers hammered at the Washington administration, the newspaper Il Messaggero published lengthy eulogies of Colonel Lindbergh, H. L. Mencken, General Johnson and other critics of President Roosevelt's policies.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc."

Unrestricted Power

Washington, Feb. 6. AS the lease-lend bill debate proceeds it becomes increasingly apparent that the opposition to it is largely due to the extraordinary, unprecedented and unnecessary powers which it confers upon the President.

Even if Mr. Roosevelt were an Executive in whose wisdom and restraint more people had confidence, this opposition would remain.

IT is intensified, of course, by distrust of the man, but under existing circumstances many would be opposed to such unlimited grants to any President. Apparently the Administration strategy is to make it appear that all those who do not accept the bill in the shape desired by the President are different or antagonistic to the British and are pro-Hitler. That, of course, is outrageously untrue.

THE fact is that in Congress and out strong British sympathizers, eager to aid in every possible way—some willing to go further than the President has expressed willingness himself to go—still regard the measure as badly conceived and dangerously drawn. Rather than risk the calamity of the bill not passing at all, most of these are prepared to swallow the whole dose if they have to, but they make no pretense of liking it.

THEY know that full aid to the British could be given without giving Mr. Roosevelt such unrestricted control and such complete discretionary powers that, from the date of its enactment, the entire business of war, defense and finance will be out of Congressional jurisdiction and in the hands

Scarlet Fever Cases Here Show Quite A Decrease

The number of scarlet fever cases in Bristol has shown a decided drop during the past month and today there are but four cases under quarantine, according to the monthly report of the health officer of the Bristol Health Board.

Measles are now, apparently on the increase, and at the end of January there were 14 cases under quarantine. There are three cases of chicken-pox, one of mumps, two of bronchial pneumonia and five of lobar pneumonia.

One nuisance was reported to the Board during January. An inspection of the dairies showed all to be well kept and in satisfactory condition.

Sedimentation tests of milk showed all to be free of dirt with but one exception. Certain changes were suggested and as soon as these are completed other tests will be made of this particular dairy.

The initial quiz, last year, proved so popular that the Travel Club home, where the event took place, was filled to overflowing by followers of the quiz. So enthused were those attending that the Juniors felt that popular demand warranted the renting of a larger auditorium.

Leedom Co. Enjoined; Decree Signed by Judge

(Special to the Courier)
NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—On the consent of the Thomas L. Leedom Co., Bristol, a decree was filed in Federal Court here yesterday enjoining it from any future acts in connection with the rug and carpet business that are in violation of the Sherman Anti-trust Act. The order follows a suit started last week.

The decree, involving it and other carpet manufacturers, was signed by Judge Murray Hulbert, who states in an accompanying memo that if any of the defendants takes an appeal from the decree, he will then issue his findings of fact in the case. No consideration of the facts is made in the decree. The court noted, however, that the manufacturers' consent to the injunction is on the condition that it not be considered an admission by them of the charges. They wish to avoid the necessity of going to trial.

They are restrained from combining in the future to fix prices, terms and conditions of sale for the industry, from limiting the kinds, quality and quantity to be produced and from otherwise restraining trade in a monopolistic manner.

Announcement was made that the program for the Rotary Club next week will be presented by the Philadelphia Electric Company when a movie, entitled "Beyond Bengal," is presented. Dr. John J. Hargrave presided at the meeting yesterday.

HONOR THE BOY SCOUTS

To do its part toward strengthening and invigorating democracy the Boy Scout Movement will during Boy Scout Week, which begins today, reflect the national mood of the United States by reading its members for instant and effective action. Scout Troops in this community and through the country have prepared plans to quickly mobilize Scouts in the event of local or national crisis. These Troops can often assemble their entire membership of high school age youth within one hour. Tests conducted by the Local Scout Councils all over the nation have indicated that the majority of communities can assemble their Boy Scouts in less time than any other group of similar size.

Pointing to numerous past emergencies, most notably the New England hurricane in 1938, Scout officials are justifiably proud of the long list of services rendered by these twelve to sixteen year old boys during disasters. Scouts, quickly co-operating with the relief agencies in charge of rescue work, have performed yeoman duty. They serve as orderlies and messengers, as well as conduct accurate censuses of damages following floods and storms, making relief work more valuable and eliminating waste effort.

Refugees look to these boys in the khaki suits and bright neckerchiefs for aid in emergencies. Scouts distribute food and aid in registering and identifying refugees. In times of distress thousands of handbills pointing out vital needs are quickly distributed by Scouts.

Cognizant of the necessity for Americans to be ready to act intelligently and efficiently in times of emergency both in peace and in war, the Boy Scouts of America are looking forward to future service opportunities. Each Boy Scout undergoes intensive training designed to ready him for effective action when cool-headed thinking is needed.

Boy Scouts are co-operating with American Red Cross and Community Chest authorities in the distribution of literature for public safety education. They serve, when practicable, as aids to police departments at large gatherings. Local fire departments seeking to eradicate community fire hazards make use of Scouts in their fight against waste.

With an eye to the United States' national defense program, Scout Troops in many communities have mobilized to map and chart local counties to determine sources of surplus food supply and secure other data for the information of defense authorities.

The whole program of the Movement is built around the Boy Scout's Motto: "Be Prepared!"

Admiration and scorn is revealed in the consensus of the writing fraternity on the art of the late James Joyce. Those who can't say they wouldn't write like that if they could.

Americans now have it from the highest source that their credit was never better. It would be o. k. to let us owe $75,000,000,000 to ourselves, the White House thinks.

The rate at which big league ball-players are being grabbed in the draft makes it look like one of the Townsend clubs for the 1941 pennant.

Can a nation long exist with half its swing population accenting "Frenesi" on one syllable and the rest on another?

PERSONAL NOTES

Mrs. Lewis M. Treude, Pond street, was taken ill during the night at her home, and is under the care of a physician.

CROYDON

Mrs. John Taylor and son, of Frankford, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schweiker.

William Knight has returned to his office after several weeks' illness.

The Census Bureau says that almost twice as many people die from motor-vehicle accidents as from the following causes of death put together: typhoid and paratyphoid fever, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, epidemic cerebrospinal meningitis, and malaria.

The states which showed the greatest percentage of increase in population in the 1940 Census were Florida, New Mexico, California, Nevada, and Idaho, according to the Census Bureau. The District of Columbia, however, exceeded the percentage increase of these states.

Miniature lumber materials and mill-work are now available for making model houses on a scale of one-half inch to the foot. Doors, frames, shingles, siding, other pieces permit experimenting with exterior design and building of replicas.

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

Spring is in the wintry air, new print frocks are flaunting, February furniture sales are fairly shouting, and every department of a certain big shop is having special "buys" or innovations to lure us into smart buying.

Hear ye—a really high-class electric wall-clock for the kitchen, or, believe it or not, the bathroom! Now on special sale in Snellenburg's first floor Clock Dept. It's a star item—a $4.95 clock for only $2.99. Finely modeled plastic cases come in fadeless, washable pure colors. Mechanisms are quiet and sealed in oil. No further lubrication necessary. Faces have a beautiful and clear simplicity. This column hasn't had a better buy for ages. Do take advantage of the news!

I've always wanted one of those miniature yet generous electric washers. Snellenburg's Houseware Dept. now has just the satisfactory thing, a "Junior Grande" selling for only $19.98—reduced price. A suitable accompanying ringer costs $4.98. Such a washer is the height of convenience in any apartment, or for a housewife who sends out her larger laundry. The Jr. is a good kitchen supplement to the larger washer in the laundry, for the Jr. can be tucked out of sight in the kitchen, to serve at a moment's notice. Go on—look!

A "choice of the house" sale of all winter coats (misses', women's, juniors') is now in session in Snellenburg's 2nd fl. Coat Depts. What an opportunity! All coats from stock and many fresh from manufacturers, every one selling regularly for much higher. Grand groups selling from $35 to $75! A sale right in time for winter weather. Considered an "end of the season" clearance, but happening just at the time when winter winds are keenest. The coats' smart touches will insure their newness for next year.

On the same shopping trip, see the specially priced ironer in the Houseware Dept.—the Speed Queen. It is a queen indeed. The ironer is compact but has a satisfactory roller 21 inches long. Rests on a table having a lower shelf for storage when the roller is not in use. The small table, 2 ft. by 3 ft., is then usable for other purposes. The roller has an improved pressure spring. There is a finger-tip and foot control. A grand labor-saver, believe me. Value $42.45, now selling at $29.98. Scram!

Have you seen Snellenburg's skate section in the Sporting Goods Dept.? It's something—just about the skating headquarters of the city. Look all the blades over, but don't forget to more than glance at the $4.95 pleasure and figure skates. They're "Brooks" and the good steel holds a sharp edge. The whole family will like them. Half sizes in their excellent shoes, too. Why not take up skating this winter? Weak ankles? Skating strengthens them. Just another sport to keep a family together!

Prints? Smarties wear 'em now. Fashionables will still be wearing 'em during spring and summer. The patterns are definitely different. "Last word" prints are those with American Indian tribe symbols. Snellenburg's knowing dress buyer of the Misses' Dept. has the grandest group of new Indian prints (and others) in town, at $9.95. Sizes 12 to 20. Many styles for many types. Some all-round pleated skirts, a number of nifty fitted jackets—a showing of new drop shoulders—but see them!

Of course you're interested in February furniture sales. Go no farther than Snellenburg's! For several reasons. One is a particular, modified modern bedroom set, three pieces, at $99. Naturally, it's worth more. The design has a simplicity and beauty about it to which the old "moderne" stuff is unrelated. A bed, chest, and fine dresser with huge circular mirror, come in three delightful finishes, and you'll surely make a choice. Look over the whole department. Unbelievable prices.

Belts are still the high spot in accessories. Clever Vogue Magazine sponsors a "belt of the month", and alert Snellenburgs feature this belt at their satisfying belt bar, 1st fl. The shop now has the February belt in two distinctive related styles, and in plain and patent kid. Many colors. The spring trend of no metal showing is in evidence. Do see them. They may be the enlivening touches your wardrobe needs. $1.50 and worth it.

Cheery shopping for your money's worth—and more, at this good shop! Tell the sales folks you know me. Thanks! F. C.

Frank DiPilla, and Rocco Cuvillo, all of Staten Island.

Yesterday detectives from Trenton police force visited the three, and questioned them regarding robberies in Trenton. It is stated by the officers that the trio admitted two robberies in Trenton.

The bandits, who were travelling in a stolen car, were said to be enroute South, and were securing money for the trip by the method which led to their downfall.

of the White House occupant. If there is no other way by which the things Britain needs can be provided, then they will take that way, but they know better.

THE more the measure is studied, the clearer becomes the necessity for radical changes. Merely putting a limit of two years, to which Mr. Roosevelt is reported graciously to agree, by no means meets the situation. What the bill needs is a curtailment of power more than a mere time limit. What it needs is some provision by which Congress, instead of being relegated entirely to the rear during the next two years, will at least retain the right to be told how and when and where and for whom the unlimited money it is providing is being used. By whatever majority the House passes the bill, the fight to curtail the President's power will really be made in the Senate. Actually, there should be no necessity to make the fight. It is beyond dispute that had Mr. Roosevelt called in the minority leaders, talked over the provisions of the bill and refrained from such wholly unnecessary demands, it would have gone through Congress with great speed and practically no opposition.

IF there is delay, the responsibility is his. If there is bitterness and bad feeling during the battle, it will be due not only to the extravagance of his demands but to the deliberate effort, made at his press conferences, to impugn the patriotism of those who differ with him. All of this could have been avoided—and avoided easily. The reported insistence of Mr. Roosevelt against any except a meaningless time limitation on his power, coupled with his latest press-conference attack upon Senator Wheeler, in which he linked his name with that of Hitler, makes it plain that that "sweet reasonableness" spoken of a few days ago was entirely phony.

—O—

THE American people overwhelmingly want to give the British every ounce of aid they can, but it is indefensible to force upon them as a condition the conferring of such power upon the President that Congress, courts and all other agencies and individuals would be reduced to complete futility and he raised to a pinnacle where, with no one to say him nay, he could do anything he wished with the nation and its resources.

—O—

THAT is really the proposition advanced by the bill. It is to be hoped that in his support of the President's general position, and in his anxiety to give the British speedily the aid we should give, not only for their sake but our own, Mr. Wilkie, when he appears before the Senate committee, will insist upon restrictive amendments so far as the Presidential power is concerned. This will not make him popular at the White House, but then he is not popular there now and never will be, regardless of what he says or does. Such amendments would not impede or delay British aid in any way. They would neither emasculate nor cripple the bill. All they would do

would be to put it in line with the Constitution and put the nation more wholeheartedly back of its primary purpose—to wit, the salvation of England and the defeat of Hitler.

Gracious Father, we believe that all of us are good in certain areas of life, and yet we are sadly deficient in the majority of responses which move us into real spiritual achievement in the art of righteous living. May we see ourselves as Thou dost see us and give us grace and strength to mend our ways. Forbid that we should become informed as to the movements of the Kingdom and give to it only the fragmentary, the imperfect, the partial. Amen.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

Every action picture you ever dreamed of is rolled into the floating inferno of passion, "Escape to Glory," which features Pat O'Brien and Constance Bennett, now at the Bristol Theatre. Cowboy star Roy Rogers is currently headlined in "Robin Hood of the Pecos," also showing at the Bristol. In this feature he rides "Trigger," one of his six thoroughbred horses.

Tomorrow night at 8.30, Professor I. Q. (not Dr. I. Q.) will present to the audience at the Bristol extra fun and extra cash. Due to many requests he will make two appearances on Saturday—matinee and evening. Fifty silver dollars will be distributed to the adult members of the audience at night who answer the professor's questions correctly.

GRAND THEATRE

Again proving herself a top-notch romantic comedienne, Anna Neagle scores a solid triumph in "No, No, Nanette," which opened at the Grand Theatre yesterday as one of the sprightliest musicals of the year.

Based on the Broadway hit of the same name but streamlined to strike a swifter pace and a more modern atmosphere, the story deals with a girl's dual romance while she is endeavoring to pull her millionaire uncle out of a jam.

The jam results from the uncle's proclivities for promising aid to beautiful young women seeking careers, when he knows he can't make good without getting into hot water with his masterful wife. Nanette decides to help by finding careers to suit the impatient applicants, and she calls upon a young artist and a young theatrical producer to assist in the project. Both young men promptly fall in love with Nanette, and this in turn brings about the romantic complications.

RITZ THEATRE

Oblique "MacMurray. He "dies" to make a little girl cry, and so boosts her along in her film career!

The little girl is 13-year-old Betty Brewer, newest film prodigy who makes her bow in "Rangers of Fortune," the new MacMurray picture which comes today to the Ritz Theatre. Just before her big crying scene in the film, Betty came to Fred with a frank plea for advice. "Tell me what I'll do," Fred volunteered. "I'll get over on the edge of the scene and play dead. You just start thinking how I got killed protecting you from a bunch of rustlers and the tears will come."

K. OF C. FIVE BREAKS ITS LOSING STREAK; DEFEATS VOLTZ TEAM

Nowalinski and Gavin Lead Attack For the Winning Five

FINAL SCORE IS 45 TO 39

Knights Move Out of The Cellar Position In League

With "Jabo" Nowalinski and Johnny Gavin leading the attack, the Knights of Columbus five broke its losing streak last night trimming the Voltz Texaco boys 45-39, on the Italian Mutual Aid floor. The triumph lifted the Knights from the depths of the cellar position.

Nowalinski and Gavin scored a total of 25 points between them but it was their shooting in the last five minutes of the tilt which counted. At that time, the gasoilers had pulled up to within one point of the Knights total, the score being 33-32.

But Nowalinski and Gavin saw that their lead was protected and four goals in fast order put the game on ice for the Casseys. During this spurt, "Jabo" had a trio of double-deckers.

The Voltz team fought hard and had the lead several times during the match but never for long. Towards the close of the contest, the Texaco team began to take long shots which were badly off from their marks.

"Howie" Berry led the shooting for the losers with a 10-point total while Carter was close behind with eight points.

The Knights had a terrible night from the foul mark, converting but three shots in 20 tries. The usual reliable Johnny Zack was missing them from the 15-foot mark, missing his entire seven tries. Joe Cahill, of the losers, made three out of four fouls.

MANHATTAN CHALKS UP VICTORY OVER FRANKLIN

After a well-played first half, the defense of the Franklin A. C. cracked wide open in the second part to enable the Manhattan Soap A. A. to chalk up an easy 38-24 victory last night on the Italian Mutual Aid floor.

The defeat shattered a three-game winning streak of the Franks and was the third consecutive win for the soap-makers. And most of all by winning, Manhattan sent the Bristol Basketball League in a turmoil, four teams now being deadlocked for first place: Franklin, Manhattan, Rohm and Haas, and Profy's.

One of the things that the Franklin team forgot to do last night was to guard "Punkie" Zeffries close. Zeffries was on the loose last night and got away from his watchers aplenty to score a total of 19 points, nine field goals and a foul. It was principally through his scoring that the Manhattaners emerged the victor.

Six of the nine double-deckers scored by Punkie were registered in that up-setting second half. He had held his own in the first half by scoring six of his team's thirteen points and sunk in the goal which put his club ahead at the half-time whistle, 13-12, a lead which was never relinquished.

On several occasions, "Punkie" was "fed" the ball but most of his shots, even though under the baskets, were of the hard-type and several had plenty of "English" on the sphere to enable it to twist into the hoops.

In swamping the Franks, Manhattan had a difficult job on its hands. The "Kids" started out like a house afire and before the first period was at the half-way mark, they had amassed an 8-3 lead. But when Zeffries and Company began to throw them in and once they got the lead it was curtains for the ultimate losers.

BENNY ROSEN VIES WITH VON SCHACHT AT ARENA

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 7 — Benny Rosen, the powerful young Hebrew giant, who turned in a great feat of stamina and endurance last Friday night, will vie with Friedrich Otto Von Schacht, big Milwaukee brewer, in the feature match at the Arena tonight.

Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight champion and one of the ring's immortals, has undertaken the task of refereeing the championship match between Betty LaBushey, French-American champion, and Zdzislaw Bursa, the Polish beauty. Betty cut loose last week with an angry attack on the referee and tore that worthy's shirt from his back, so Leonard has been engaged to keep order in this match, and the free-for-all, that will feature the colorful Zim Zam Zam, Hindu eccentric and winner of last week's exciting fracas. The other contestants will be Mike Haller, classy Pole; Otto Wallick, the Dutch Wizard, and Tony Milano, the rowdy Italian.

Count Von Zeppo, a queer newcomer, will face Al Norcus, the popular Lithuanian, and Rufus Jones and Jack Claybourne two colored grapplers, will trade grips.

Rosen and Von Schacht wrestled to a 30-minute draw some weeks ago but tonight's encounter will be to a finish and two men displacing almost 600 pounds should keep the fans "hot-up."

The first bout will start at 8:00 p. m.

BENSALEM PASSERS TO FACE BRISTOL IN FRAY HERE TONIGHT

Revamped Lineup Expected To Win for Bristol Court Team

LOCALS WON FIRST TEST

Little Trouble Seen As Cards Have Hit Their Stride

By Jack Gill

Schoolboy basketball faces another busy winter evening. Tonight the Bristol High School aggregation, still chest thumping over its recent 40 to 33 upset over West Conshohocken, seeks its fifth triumph of the season over Bensalem in the local gym. Morrisville, "Big Three" division champions, plays host to Princeton at Morrisville.

The difference between the two divisions will be seen here tonight. Bensalem is leading the little three with victories scored over Buckingham and Southampton. Bristol, on the other hand, lies entrenched in the cellar of the big three group. But it is a safe bet that the Cards will take the Bensalem squad hands down. In the first meeting between the two teams Bristol walked to a 31 to 17 decision.

Coach Tom Campion juggled his lineup last week and it proved highly successful. Now working Bob Monti at forward with the consistently high scoring Chick Di Angelo. Ruby has taken over Monti's center spot. Last week against West Conshohocken the tall center roamed all over the floor and proved valuable under the backboard. Joe Accardi, who hit a season's high last Tuesday, and Benny Lupkin will probably get the call at the guard slots. For reserve duty Campion has dependable Clem Peterpaul and a boy who is coming along fast, Kenny Herman.

Leading the Bensalem team will be Dick Colbert, rangy center, and Bob Scarborough. Little Nick Naylor has been playing better ball for the Owls and Coach Johnny Slaven, a Bristol League scoring star with Profy's, foresees a better game than the first engagement.

Morrisville will be out after its seventh win of a highly successful season against Princeton. The Tigers, beaten by Fallsington earlier in the year, have improved rapidly. Fallsington has an open date on its card.

arduous reconnaissance work in the mountainous country surrounding the town.

Today the main body of British forces in Eritrea are taking up well fortified positions around Keren and within striking distance of the Italians.

British batteries, cunningly concealed in the hillsides, are giving the Fascist positions an intense pounding. It was reported, But the reports added that the Fascist forces are showing signs of stiffer resistance than the vehicles, tanks and other war equipment in their flight.

Further south another British column is pursuing an Italian division which fled from the British-occupied town of Barentu.

Word received at Cairo headquarters indicated the British are bringing increasing pressure against this Italian division along a difficult track leading to Adiugri.

Strength of the Italian division was reported "diminishing rapidly" as a result of casualties and constant capture of prisoners by the British. The Italians also are deserting in considerable numbers, according to these reports.

British officials said they doubted whether more than half the original Italian force ever would reach Adiugri and added that the Italians are abandoning increasing quantities of guns.
